STUDENT VISA

Citizens of EU/EEA States do not need a visa for entering or studying in Germany. All that is required is a valid travel document such as a passport.

If you are a citizen of any other countries you have to contact your local German Embassy to make an appointment for a student visa. The embassy usually has a list with all necessary documents which are needed for visa application. In all cases you will need:

- a valid passport and passport photographs
- a higher education entrance qualification recognized in Germany (“Abitur” certificate or an equivalent)
- all certificates concerning your previous studies
- proof of financing
- the letter of acceptance from the TU Dortmund University

ACCOMMODATION

Student numbers have been rising in the last years, and this makes it difficult to find a place to stay – even more if you come from abroad.

Student dormitories

We strongly recommend you to register at Studierendenwerk Dortmund, which is the organization that runs the student dormitories on and near the campus.

1. Studierendenwerk
2. Click on “Online-Bewerbung”  to get to the online application form to be filled out.
3. After you submit your application you will receive a link via E-Mail which you need to confirm within seven days.
4. If a room is allocated you will be notified by E-Mail. You need to reply if you will accept the offer within a limited time period. If Studierendenwerk does not hear from you they will delete you from the waiting list. Furthermore, you will receive an E-Mail every four weeks asking if you are still interested in a room of Studierendenwerk. If you do not reply to this mail you will also be deleted from the waiting list.

However, waiting times may be up to several months, unfortunately. Therefore, please also check the links provided on the MMT website  for further housing options.

- How does the BOSS-System work?
- And many other questions

Whether you need to know where the cafeteria is, how to register at the library, or how to do some sports in your free time, your Student Advisor will be glad to help you.

ONLINE PRE COURSE

We are happy to announce to you that there will be offered a unique opportunity to you preparing yourself for your MMT-studies here at TU-Dortmund.

In advance of your stay in Germany we will offer an online course and invite you to take part. The course's main idea is that you get to know each other, TU Dortmund University as well as the area. You will start working in international teams in order to recognize the transnational nature of engineering work. The course will consist of parts where we come together in an online room and parts where you will have to work on different tasks together in teams. It will be fully online so that you can take part from your home country via your computer.

This course will help you to have a smooth start into your stay here in Germany. For more detailed information have a look on the MMT website. More details about dates and times will be send out separately by the beginning of August.

Further information can be found here.

FIRST AID KIT – PART I

TRAVELLING TO GERMANY

The lectures will start at the beginning of October and the week before the MMT Coordination Team and the International Office will have an orientation week for international students. So we recommend that you come to Dortmund at the end of September to have time to get settled and enroll at the university.

Your flights will probably arrive in Frankfurt (FRA) or Düsseldorf (DUS). Please mind that you will have to travel from there to Dortmund yourself. You can use the train from both airports to come to Dortmund, but Düsseldorf is closer to Dortmund than Frankfurt. Thus the train tickets from Düsseldorf to Dortmund are cheaper than the tickets from Frankfurt to Dortmund. But often the plane tickets to Frankfurt are a lot cheaper than to Düsseldorf. So please keep the following information in mind when you plan your trip:

- Frankfurt airport: train ride to Dortmund (about 4 hours)
- Düsseldorf airport: train ride to Dortmund (about 1 hour)
